

1. If this is your first time using a Biodigital Model, select "Start Tutorial" after launching the model.
2. If the tutorial does not automatically launch, or if you need to return to the tutorial at any time, select three dots in the menu in the bottom right corner, select the help button, then Launch Tutorial. See Figure 1.

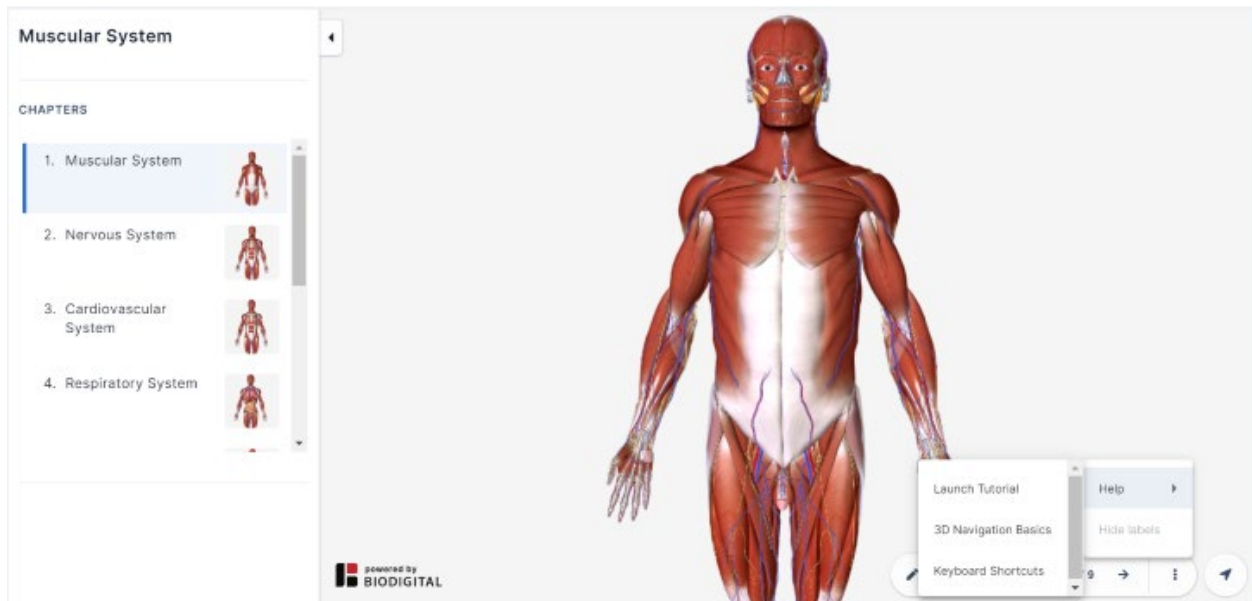

Figure 1. Location of Launch Tutorial feature.

3. While navigating through the model, you can select individual body structures to learn their name and additional information about each individual structure. Use this to help you orient yourself in the model when being asked to identify or hide specific structures.
4. To hide a structure, select the "Explore Tools" button and then select the "Hide" button. See Figure 2. You can also use the Explore Tools bar to undo or redo your last action.

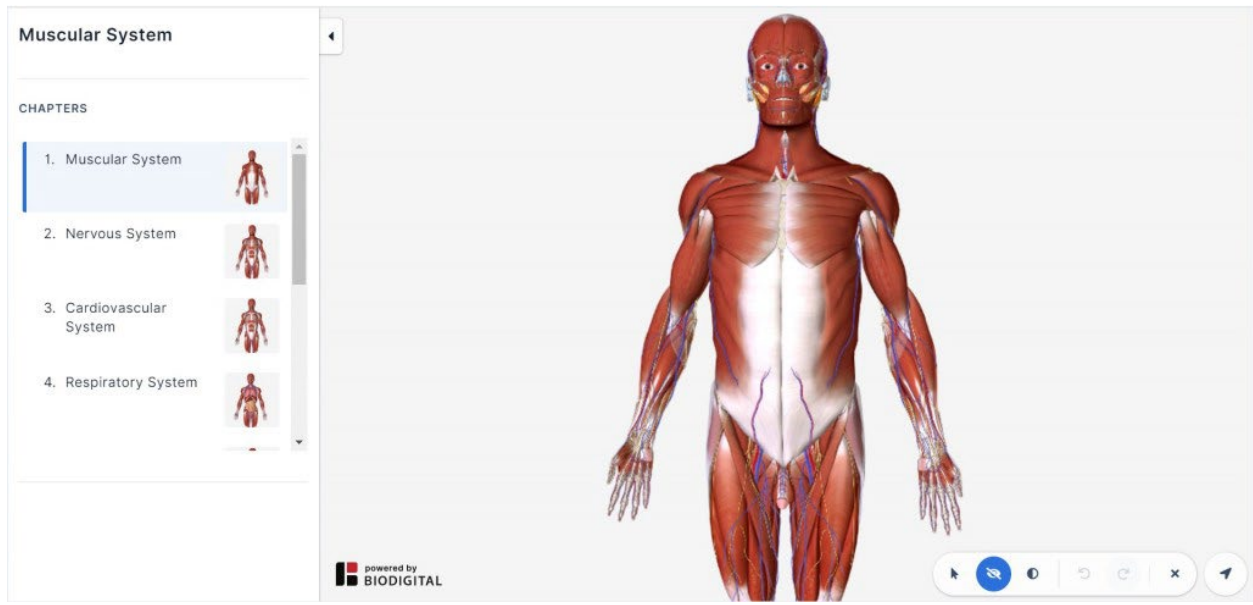

Figure 2. The "Hide" button, shown selected here by the blue circle at the bottom right of the BioDigital model.